LIGHTS BACK ON FOR SOVEREIGN HILL'S AURA SOUND AND LIGHT SHOW SPECTACULAR!

Thursday 21 January, 2021

Sovereign Hill today announced that AURA, its evening sound and light show, will return this Saturday 23 January.

For the first time since February 2020, visitors will once again be able to experience the multi-sensory adventure of AURA under the Ballarat night sky. Suitable for the whole family to enjoy, AURA tells the story of gold in Australia and transports audiences into the Dreamtime and through to Australia's most important rebellion.

Operating with a reduced capacity of 50 tickets per screening, AURA will commence for four nights during the Australia Day long weekend (23 January to 26 January). The show will continue after this on Saturday nights only until further notice.

Screening times commence at 9.15pm throughout January with adult tickets $45, children tickets at $24.50 and family tickets starting at $101. All tickets must be booked online at sovereignhill.com.au/aura

To ensure Sovereign Hill is safe and secure, on-site payments will be conducted via contactless bank card, sanitisation stations and clear social distancing signage will be active throughout the site and all staff, volunteers and visitors will be asked COVID-19 screening questions ahead of entry.

Sovereign Hill Museums Association is a not-for-profit organisation that provides immersive experiences connecting the past to today like no-one else can.

Comments from Katrina Nitschke, Deputy CEO

"We're so delighted to re-open AURA to our visitors once again. AURA is the story of us as a community and a nation. Through the revolutionising impact of gold, our visitors can enjoy an immersive experience that follows gold from its creation and discovery, right up until today"

"It's wonderful to once again have our visitors back at Sovereign Hill at night time to experience our spectacular AURA show. It's fun for the whole family as they journey through space and time around Sovereign Hill to experience this immersive show"
